

Read Receipts in Outlook

When you receive your first Read Receipt request, the following dialog box will appear:

If you choose “YES”, a read receipt will be mailed to the sender; if you select “NO”, the sender will not get an email saying you have read the email. If you check the “Don't ask me again” checkbox before you choose Yes or No, whatever you choose next will be remembered and you won't be asked again. So, if you check “Don't ask me” and then choose No, from that point forward, no read receipts will be sent and you will not be asked.

However, if you need to change this setting at a later time, Outlook lets you. From Outlook's Menu, choose:

Tools > Options > Preferences > Email Options > Tracking Options

There you can select one of the three radio buttons: Never Send a Response, Always Send a Response, or Ask Me before Sending a Response. Select one, then OK your way back out of the settings area.
